

All-New Catalogue from Sterling

Press Release

Retailers can now get their hands on Sterling's all-new catalogue for 2009. For the first time, Sterling has compiled a full colour glossy catalogue with a great, easy-to-use format. Inside, there's all the info customers need to select the right Sterling products simply and swiftly.

All Sterling's products are featured together with detailed drawings, pictures and technical data. The product specs are right there on the page.

Rex Atkins, Marketing Director, said: "Sterling knows that time is money, and that is why the new catalogue makes it as quick and easy as possible to find and order the right Sterling product."

Sterling is known for delivering high quality security products at great value prices. With consumers looking for the best deals but not wanting to compromise on safety, there has never been a better time to find out how Sterling could help grow sales.

For more information on Sterling products or the Sterling catalogue, call 0113 250 3606 or visit www.sterlinglocks.com Ends