

Saved from Holiday Stress With the SafeCan from Sterling

Press Release

Holidays are the one part of the year that everyone looks forward to as a well-earned break - but they can be stressful at times too! The last thing anyone wants to worry about when they're away is the security of their valuables. But burglars know that holidaymakers and tourists can make easy pickings. Often carrying spending money or valuable documents like passports, people on holiday are likely to be less security-conscious than they are at home, and may not notice a theft until it is too late.

But keeping the important things safe and sound has never been easier with a little help from Sterling's SafeCan.

The Sterling SafeCan is the answer for anyone who needs a portable way to keep small valuables away from prying eyes. Replicas of everyday objects - from books to candles to tins of food - SafeCan products open with a simple twist to reveal a secret hiding place. With labels made under licence from well-known companies, the dummy containers are almost impossible to tell apart from the real thing. This means that it is the last place a thief will look; better than a locked safe, and a hundred times cheaper!

The SafeCan is available as a food tin, a book, a candle, aerosol cans, and even as a rock for hiding keys in a garden. Starting from ssp £2.99 they are the perfect product for peace of mind without feeling a pinch in the purse.
