

Secure Sales with Safer Mail with Sterling Post Boxes

Press Release

With increased concerns about identity theft and worries about burglars gaining access through letter box flaps, more and more consumers are opting for lockable, external post boxes. People are also concerned about leaving piles of post on the hallway floor, which is a dead giveaway that no one's home! With the holiday season just round the corner, now is a good time to boost sales by telling them about Sterling's great range of post boxes and post catchers.

Sterling post boxes are made of tough steel matched by secure locks. An outward opening letter flap provides all round weather protection, whilst the specially designed narrow post slot helps to prevent post being removed. The choice of finishes includes either a tough powder coating on galvanised steel or a stainless steel finish. Whatever the choice, it ensures long lasting resistance to the elements. With five models in the range and up six different colours to choose from, there's a post box for every door. And where a letter flap is being used, mail can still be secured - and thieves thwarted - with a Sterling Post Catcher.

Retailers know that Sterling is committed to helping them maximise on sales, which is why all Sterling products offer high quality at great value prices.
